

Terry quits Blues

WYCOMBE Wanderers mid-field star Terry Reardon has quit the club and will play for his old club Slough Town in the Rothmans Isthmian League next season.

Reardon, who joined Wanderers from Slough in November 1973, proved an integral part of the side that won two league championships and became renowned nationwide for their F.A. Cup exploits.

Reardon will be badly missed by Wycombe next season, as secretary John Goldsworthy admits. "We can't afford to lose players like him."

"We tried desperately to persuade him into staying," said Mr. Goldsworthy, "but he is a free agent and chose to go back to Slough."
